Kingfisher Court, Hertfordshire

Stylish, design-led and robust healthcare furniture has been supplied by Bradford-based Knightsbridge Furniture to complete the £42m Kingfisher Court mental health unit in Radlett, Hertfordshire. 'The facilities at Kingfisher Court are truly world-class and we're very proud to have delivered our furniture to such a prestigious project,' says Knightsbridge CEO Alan Towns.

Kingfisher Court is part of a £100m five-year 'Transformation Programme' through which Hertfordshire Partnership University NHS Foundation Trust (HPFT) is radically redeveloping its mental health provision across Hertfordshire, North Essex and Norfolk. Under main contractor MedicinQ Osborne, the new 86-bed adult acute inpatient facility has been built on the site of the former Harperbury Hospital, blending into the surrounding woodland through its use of natural contours and materials both inside and out.

The light and airy Kingfisher Court day rooms have been populated with Hula circular dining tables from Knightsbridge Furniture's specialist Challenging Behaviour Collection, which combine contemporary styling with inherent strength and stability. The tables are complemented by the company's elegant Harvey upright armchairs: all exposed wood has the same Walnut finish and the chairs are upholstered in waterproof Aston faux hide.

'Service users, carers, staff and the general public were all involved during the unit's development, and their views were also sought when it came to the fitting-out,' says HPFT Commissioning & Projects Manager Lisa Wellings. 'We presented options from several manufacturers, but the Knightsbridge chairs and tables proved most popular with everyone. Having worked with Knightsbridge for several years, I knew they could be relied upon to deliver products on time and to the high quality which the project deserves.'

Case Study

The Harbour, Lancashire

Yorkshire-based Knightsbridge Furniture was selected as the furniture manufacturer of choice following a competitive tender to fit out a pioneering new mental health hospital in Blackpool.

Knightsbridge was appointed by NHS Shared Business Services, working on behalf of Lancashire Care NHS Foundation Trust, to provide furniture for The Harbour, a new £40m 154-bed facility designed to offer high quality, therapeutic care.

The company manufactured a number of specially designed pieces of furniture, created with reinforced frames and durable materials, for many of the hospital's bedrooms, dining areas and communal spaces. Working closely with NHS Shared Business Services, Knightsbridge also crafted several bespoke items specifically for the scheme.

Alan Towns, CEO of Knightsbridge, said: "It's fantastic to know that residents and their families will be able to enjoy our furniture at The Harbour. Our mental health collection has been created with the user in mind, promoting safety and security while ensuring a stylish design. This is a truly brilliant project and we're very pleased to have been part of it."

Knightsbridge, which develops and manufactures all products from its factory in Bradford, has been an approved supplier of furniture for the NHS and SHS for more than 60 years. The company was commissioned to fit out the new hospital after impressing NHS Shared Business Services with its attention to detail and flexible approach to creating bespoke items.

Commenting on Knightsbridge's contribution to the project, Christopher Parkin, Capital Projects Buyer for NHS Shared Business Services, said: "The quality of Knightsbridge's furniture, as well as its commitment to ensuring its products always meets the requirements of our Clinical Team, not only helped to ensure that the project was delivered on time but enhanced the overall aesthetic feel of the building."

"The quality of Knightsbridge's furniture, as well as its commitment to ensuring its products always meets the requirements of our Clinical Team, is second to none"
